NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH — Although they were injured, two men had a narrow escape from death at 9:30 a.m. today when this truck jackknifed on a curve on Alternate Route 14 several miles east of Salem and toppled over on this automobile. Alfred Kremer, 34, of RD 1, Salem, driver of the car, tried unsuccessfully to avoid the truck by pulling onto the berm. Kremer, a salesman who was trapped in his smashed car for awhile, suffered a head injury and lacerated chin. The trucker, Harold Wade Samples, 31, of 3220 Region Ave., Canton, received a dislocated left hip. Both were brought to Salem City Hospital. State Patrolman Tony Dominic said the westbound truck owned by Albert Dalton of Waynesburg was loaded with 300 bags of fine sawdust, consigned to a Waynesburg brick plant.

Nearly 800 Claimed In Yule Traffic

By The Associated Press.
Traffic 615
Fires 103
Miscellaneous 79
Total 797

Tragedy marked the gay Christmas holiday in hundreds of homes across the nation, with a death toll of some 800 in traffic accidents, fires and miscellaneous mishaps.

The No. 1 killer, as usual, was traffic. With final figures still to come, the count showed 615 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents during the four-day Christmas holiday. Fires killed 103 persons and 79 others were killed in a variety of accidents. The over-all total was 797.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated the traffic death toll at 650 to 750, said belated reports may boost the final figure close to 800. The count covered a period of 102 hours, from 6 p.m. (local time) last Friday to midnight Christmas.

There was a sharp rise in the traffic death rate on Christmas, due largely to the heavier travel, the homeward rush of millions and hazardous driving conditions in many sections of the country. At least 160 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the last 24 hours of the long holiday.

Snow, rain, sleet and cold covered broad areas of the nation.

The number of traffic deaths compares with a record toll of 706 for a four-day Christmas observance in 1956. The 706 toll also is a record high for any holiday period. The lowest number of traffic fatalities in a four-day Christmas period since World War II was 535 in 1951. In last year's three-day Christmas holiday, traffic fatalities totaled 524.

$1,000 Collected In Sight Seal Drive

Approximately $1,000 has been collected so far in the annual Sight Seal fund drive conducted by the Salem Lions Club.

R. K. Rowand, chairman of the committee, said donations are still being accepted.

Checks, made payable to Lions Club Sight Fund, may be sent to Rowand at the King Die Corp., 392 W. State St.

Eighty-five per cent of the funds raised will be used in the Salem area and 15 per cent given to the Ohio Eye Research Foundation, which also helps locally.

JFK, Aides Confer On Tax Cut Plan

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy buckles down to business again today—tax cut business.

He turned from the holiday aspect of his Florida stay and called together top economic and financial advisers for a conference on tax policy and the economy.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon was to interrupt his own vacation at nearby Hobe Sound, Fla., to join the meeting at Kennedy's oceanfront headquarters.

Among those summoned from Washington were chairman Walter Heller of the Council of Economic Advisers, Undersecretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler and Assistant Secretary Stanley S. Surrey.

Kennedy's latest word on tax cut prospects came in an address to the Economic Club of New York on Dec. 14. Arguing that the present tax system acts as a brake on economic growth, he urged an early reduction in both individual and corporate tax rates, coupled with some tax reforms and a clampdown on federal spending.

Key questions at today's conference involved the strategy of pushing tax cut legislation through a Congress which has a vocal and influential segment that contends any lowering of taxes at this time would create a dangerously large federal budget deficit.

In this case, strategy goes to the substance of the issue be-

Eight Escape E. Germany In Armored Bus

BERLIN (AP)—Eight East German refugees crashed through three barriers into West Berlin before dawn today while the bullets of border guards rattled off their armor-plated bus.

Eight bullets hit the bus but only one man was injured, by flying glass when the windshield smashed.

The escapees were the owner of the bus, his driver, their wives and their four children. The children included three girls, 1, 3 and 13 years old and a boy of 10.

Police said the bus, of pre-war German manufacture, belonged to one of the few private contractors the Communist regime still permitted to operate.

The group drove 120 miles to Berlin from their homes at Neugersdorf, near the Oder-Neisse border between East Germany and Poland.

They had fitted metal plates inside the bus to protect themselves from the bullets they were certain the border guards would fire at them.

The bus swung around Berlin to come into the city on the autobahn from the west.

While the women and children lay on the floor, the contractor and the driver drove audaciously up to the control point at Babelsberg where vehicles heading for West Berlin are checked.

It was 5:30 a.m. and still dark. Ignoring signals to halt, the driver drove the bus at top speed toward the steel and concrete barricades which stretch across the four-lane highway leaving

Warren Austin, Former U.N. Ambassador, Dies

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Warren R. Austin, 85, who campaigned against U.S. entry in the League of Nations after World War I, and became U.S. ambassador to the United Nations after World War II, died at his home Tuesday.

Austin, a Republican, turned internationalist in the 1930s when he supported Franklin D. Roosevelt's foreign policy while opposing him on domestic issues.

He served in the Senate from 1931 until he was appointed to the U.N. mission by former President Harry S. Truman in 1946. He became head of the mission until 1953 when he was succeeded by Henry Cabot Lodge.

It was Austin who led the fight for a U.N. resolution naming Communist China as the aggressor in Korea after the Reds came to the rescue of the North Koreans when they had been mauled by U.N. forces in 1950.

He accused Red China of trying "to shoot its way into the United Nations, and dramatically produced a 1950 model Soviet machine gun captured from the Korean Reds as proof.

The Soviet delegate, Jacob A. Malik, left the Security Council room rather than examine the gun.

Told of Austin's death, Truman said in his Independence, Mo., home: "I'm sorry as I can be to hear about his death. He was a able and distinguished senator and did a wonderful job while he was in the public service."

Austin was born in Highgate, Vt. and after graduation from the University of Vermont, entered his father's law office. He was admitted to the bar in 1902.

He married Mildred Marie Lucas, whom he had met at college, 61 years ago. She was with him when he died. They had two sons, Warren Jr., and Col. Edward Lucas Austin of the U.S. Army.

Hoffa Critical Of Court For T-H Law Trial

Judge, Prosecutor Target In Taped Interview for TV

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa has criticized severely the federal judge and prosecutor in his Nashville trial which ended in a hung jury Sunday.

Hoffa was especially critical of the decision of Judge William Miller to present to a federal grand jury in January evidence of alleged jury tampering during the 42-day trial. He also had verbal fire for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

His remarks came in a taped interview with television newsman Ven Marshall of WWJ-TV, Detroit. The interview was taped Monday and broadcast that night and again Tuesday.

Hoffa was on trial on a charge of violating the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting, with the late Owen Brennan, a Teamsters vice president, more than a million dollars from a Michigan trucking firm, Commercial Carriers, Inc.

The jury became deadlocked Sunday after 17 hours of deliberations.

Asked for his views on Judge Miller's conduct of the trial, Hoffa replied:

"My reaction is that we had ready and was set to file an affidavit of prejudice, not only during the trial but before the trial. Of prosecutor James Neal, Hoffa said:

"He is one of the most vicious prosecutors who ever handled a criminal case for the Justice Department. Half truths, innuendos and every sort of underhanded

Wellsville Family Burned Out of Home

WELLSVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Athen Chaffin and their four preschool children were burned out of their country dwelling north of here about 8:40 a.m. Christmas Day.

Ed Bergman, assistant chief of the West Point Volunteer Fire Department, estimated $5,000 damage to the structure, a nine-room farmhouse owned by Ralph McCready of Wellsville RD 1. The house is on McCready Rd., a mile from Yellow Creek Church.

Firemen blamed the blaze on a defective chimney.

The West Point department sent two trucks and 30 men to the scene. They were aided by 20 Highlandtown firemen and two trucks.

The Chaffins rented the farmhouse about a month ago.

Neighbors said the family is living temporarily with Mrs. Chaffin's mother in East Liverpool. Chaffin works in a mill at Midland, Pa.

Begins Massive Recruiting Plan

Guard To Bolster Force by 25,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army National Guard—wearing a "we'll show McNamara" chip on its shoulder—will open an aggressive recruiting drive in the new year.

Informed sources, disclosing this today, said they are confident the Guard can reach its goal of 400,000 men. It now is about 250,000 short.

They indicated the effort will be spurred by a desire to disprove Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's skepticism that it can be done.

Earlier this year, McNamara sought to trim Army Guard and Reserve strength by 58,000 men on grounds it was not possible without lowering standards to recruit enough men to maintain the Guard at 400,000 and the Reserve at 300,000. Under his proposal, the Guard would have taken a 33,000-man cut and the Reserve a 25,000-man reduction.

Congress directed the Defense Department to make every effort to muster the higher strength without sacrificing quality. Since then the Army has boosted its standards for Guard and Reserve recruits, making it even tougher to reach the manpower objective.

Knowledgeable officials said Guard recruiting would be helped if final agreement could be reached quickly between the Pentagon and state governors on a controversial streamlining of the Guard structure.

A chief feature of the Army-McNamara plan calls for reconstituting four low priority Guard infantry divisions into brigades with a quicker reaction capability in a national emergency.

The Army also wants to lop off a net of 338 obsolete company and detachment-size Guard units.

A parallel Reserve reorganization of roughly the same magnitude already is under way, with a March 31 deadline for completion.

A committee representing the governors has been trying to decide on when to seek a meeting with McNamara to discuss the Guard reorganization. Indications point to a meeting in early January.

The Army concept would designate six Guard divisions as high priority outfits. They would be built to 80 per cent of full complement.

Butler-Knox, $902 ($1,200); Center, $1,825 ($2,400); Elkrum, $202 ($225); Fairfield, $2,459 ($3,300); Franklin-Wayne, $132 ($200); Hanover, $531 ($675); Liverpool - St. Clair, $5,226 ($9,000).

Madison $157 ($200); Middleton, $344 ($450); Perry, $4,705 ($7,200); Salem, $1,136 ($1,500); Yellow Creek, $1,764 ($2,400).

Christmas 1962 Lived Up To Seasonal Tradition Of Good Will

By The Associated Press.
Christmas 1962 lived up to the seasonal traditions of good will, good cheer, merry making, Christian religious observance and peace. There was a minimum of international discord to disturb the lull in what the world calls the cold war.

Moscow radio broadcast best wishes to the United States and urged good will between the two nations; then the Soviets set off another in their series of nuclear tests. The blast was the 24th of the current test series recorded by Sweden's seismological observatory at Uppsala.

Among the happiest celebrations anywhere were those of the 1,113 Cuban invasion captives delivered from Fidel Castro's prisons earlier in the week. They had the additional joyous word that 1,000 members of their families would be allowed to leave Cuba tonight and join them in the United States.

There was much over which the world could shudder and shiver—the continued jungle war in Viet Nam, the conflict between monarchists and republicans in the deserts of Yemen, the perennial prospect of trouble in the Congo, the wall in Berlin.

But the undeclared India-China border war remained quiet, and in most nations political leaders in Christmas greetings to their people spoke of peace with more assurance.

The message of Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker

Castro Terms Release As 'Extra Bonus'

Ship With Soviets Stationed on Island Departs for Russia

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Another mass exodus of Cubans—relatives of the invasion prisoners released just before Christmas—is due in south Florida Thursday. And a Soviet passenger liner sailed from Havana Tuesday night with hundreds of Russians who had been stationed in Cuba.

The Russians — men, women and children — presumably were bound for home aboard the Admiral Najimov, the former German steamship Berlin, which had been berthed in Havana for two weeks.

They boarded the vessel during the day, arriving in long truck and bus convoys. There had been no announcement by Cuban officials of plans to move any large number of Russians off the island.

The Admiral Najimov left from a dock near where an American vessel was being prepared to take on 1,000 relatives of the invasion captives who were ransomed from Fidel Castro.

The steamer African Pilot, which made the ransom run Saturday, is scheduled to arrive about 7 a.m. Thursday at Port Everglades, 25 miles north of Miami. It will land parents, brothers and sisters, wives and children who had stayed in Cuba to be near their imprisoned loved ones.

A Pan American World Airways airliner, laden with American Red Cross nurses, 500 coats, diapers, paper cups and other items was to leave Miami today for Havana to make the families comfortable en route to Florida.

The travelers are not likely to come aboard overburdened with material goods. Associated Press newsman Joe McGowan Jr. pool representative for U.S. news agencies, said in Havana that a Cuban official told the Prisoner Families Committee that those leaving could take only the clothes they wore.

The official said that any family leaving Cuba will forfeit all its possessions, but if one immedi-

Palestine Ponders Contract Change

EAST PALESTINE — City officials have been placed in a quandary by the announcement of the Allis Chalmers Co. of Milwaukee that it is discontinuing the production of steam generators.

Allis Chalmers was awarded a contract three months ago for construction and installation of a 7,500-kilowatt steam generator at the municipal light plant which is undergoing a million dollar improvement.

Although the company has promised to fulfill its obligation, its assurance leaves unresolved questions dealing with future maintenance and repairs, Mayor Robert Harding said.

The firm, which was awarded the contract on its low bid of $272,000, has indicated it would not be averse to the city's nullifying the agreement and giving the job to another company. However, such action probably would result in a delay in completion of the light plant project and an increase in the overall cost.

Mayor Harding has called a meeting of city officials and other interested persons at 8 tonight at City Hall in an effort to decide what course to follow.

Christmas Day Search For Woman Fails

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A "massive" Christmas Day search as the Fairfield County Sheriff's Office called it, of the Lancaster area where Mrs. Virginia Wagner vanished a week ago tonight failed to turn up a trace of the attractive 35-year-old mother of three.

The sheriff's department said 75 citizens contributed part of their holiday to help law enforcement officers hunt some clue. The searchers split into groups and combed the streets to no avail.

It was a bleak Christmas for Mrs. Wagner's husband, Chris, an Anchor Hocking Glass Corp. official, and the couple's three children. The youngsters are Scott, 11, Barbie, 10, and Tina, 8.

Mrs. Wagner was last seen shortly before 9 p.m. last Wednesday leaving in the family auto for a short ride to pick up Scott after his basketball practice. The boy came home alone at 9:30 and the car was found abandoned on Main Street on Lancaster's East Side.

Wagner and neighbors have

Holiday Mail Receipts Up; Volume Drops

Cancellations at the Salem Post Office during the Christmas mailing season totaled 604,000, slightly under the mail-handling record established last year, Postmaster Ray Reasbeck said today.

Receipts, however, were up slightly, he added.

Reasbeck said cancellations during December were 8,000 under the 612,000 pieces of mail processed in the corresponding period in 1961.

The increase in receipts was due in part to the widespread use of the special Christmas four-cent stamp, he said. Many people purchased the holiday stamp in preference to the three-cent stamp which they could have used, he said. Tabulation of receipts has not been completed.

Reasbeck said the post office effected a considerable savings this year in the employment of additional mail personnel during the season, hiring fewer than half the normal number.

The need for additional workers was abated by the extra efficiency made possible by the modern facilities of the new post office building at Columbia and Penn Ave., he declared.

The postmaster noted that Alliance and Youngstown post offices also reported decreases in mail volume but slight increases in receipts this season.

New Finance Chief Promises To Reduce State's Expenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The new broom will sweep clean if Richard L. Krabach, the state finance director-designate, makes good on his promises.

In the name of economy, he's promised to try to get rid of most of the 3,000-plus persons he says have been hired as state employees in the waning days of the Democratic administration.

This recommendation is one of six Krabach says he will put forth officially when he takes office with the Republican administration of Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes Jan. 14.

Krabach, who has been chairman of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, said he has decided to seek these measures in light of his study of the state's financial condition over the past few weeks:

1. An immediate halt to hiring of additional state employees "save in instances of demonstrated emergency"; and an "immediate and complete halt" to increasing salaries on a general scale.
2. Notification of those employees hired since last Sept. 15 that "it will be necessary, in the great majority of cases, to terminate their services with the state."
3. Stopping all purchases except emergency items.
4. Stopping all trips by state employees to conventions, seminars, et. at state expense, except in "extreme emergencies."
5. Holding up all payments on recent state purchases until it can be determined whether any items "unnecessary at this time" can be returned.
6. A review of all contracts for services.

The incoming finance director said his study has shown him that the general fund is in serious difficulty.

"There is but one solution," Krabach said in announcing his plans Tuesday night. "... We must reduce expenditures.

"We must tighten our belts and institute a program of financial integrity in order to avoid the only other alternative — a substantial increase in taxes at this time.

"The responsibility of balancing the budget lies with the office of finance director. I intend to meet this responsibility head on."

Increased Rates Cover Expanded Benefits

Social Security Self-Supporting

Is the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program, more commonly known as social security, really self-supporting?

Will there be any money in the trust funds to pay benefits when I retire, if I become disabled, or in the event of my death?

There are questions which more than sixty million Americans who work under social security are asking. They require a lot of explanation.

It was and is the intent of Congress that social security be and remain self-supporting both for now and for the long-range future. Congress has therefore written into the law a schedule of tax rates to be paid by employees, their employers, and self-employed persons that is intended to finance the program without any subsidy from general government funds.

WHEN SOCIAL SECURITY taxes were first collected in 1937, the employee's share of the tax was one per cent of the first $3,000 of annual wages, matched by one per cent from the employer. These rates were set to rise to three per cent each, making a combined total of six per cent by 1949. However, the scheduled increases were put off, and it was not until 1950 that the rate was permitted to go above one per cent.

The last tax schedule enacted by Congress and in effect now is as follows:

Year	Employee	Employer
1962	3 3/4%	3 3/4%
1963-65	3 3/4%	3 3/4%
1966-67	4 1/4%	4 1/4%
1968 and after	5 3/4%	5 3/4%

The tax schedule for self-employed persons is: 4.7% for 1962, 5.4% in 1963 through 1965, 6.2% in 1966 through 1967, and 6.9% in 1968 and thereafter.

THIS TAX SCHEDULE IS designed to meet the future obligations of the program and to keep it on a self-supporting basis. The maximum amount that can count for social security and on which you pay social security taxes is now $4,800 per year.

Starting in January of 1963, the social security contribution rate will increase to 3 3/4 per cent for both the worker and the employer, representing a one-half of one per cent more, or a total of 5.4 per cent of their net earnings when they report their 1963 earnings.

The question as to whether or not this tax schedule is adequate for social security to pay its own way has been studied by fiscal experts and found to be sound.

ACTUARIES, STUDYING the life span, the benefits paid, and the rate of contributions, have stated that income from the pres-

Foolish Food Fads Are to Be Avoided

It is doubtful that any class of fads has had more varieties and has been the cause of more foolishness than food fads. It would sometimes seem that the more ridiculous the fad, the greater the enthusiasm of a small but noisy segment of the population. These fads are frequently based on misapplication of highly technical scientific discoveries.

An example is the misuse of vitamins. Every specialist in the science of nutrition knows that the body requires only very minute quantities of each of the vitamins daily and that these are best supplied in the foods we eat. Some persons who have a disease due to vitamin deficiency or who are on some sort of restrictive diet may need vitamin concentrates to supply the body's requirements.

THESE CONCENTRATES will, however, supply neither pep nor tissues, but they will bring the function of various body systems back to normal. They can do nothing more than that and amounts taken in excess of the body's needs are not stored but are promptly eliminated.

The drinking of coffee and tea started out many years ago as fads but have now become firmly entrenched in our daily lives. The disadvantages of these drinks, which in themselves have no nutritional value, is that they divert our appetites from beverages that have definite food value.

Another popular fallacy is the belief that vegetables from an unknown source were most likely raised on soil that was poor in essential minerals and are therefore of inferior nutritional value. Soil that is that poor would produce so small a crop that it could not be considered an important source of supply.

ONE UNFORTUNATE feature of many food fads is that they are uneconomical. Wheat germ, for example, has been hailed as a health-giving food. There is no doubt that wheat germ is rich in certain essential nutrients but it is very expensive as compared to other foods of equal value.

This type of fad is often put over with a big promotional fanfare and as a result the rich promoter gets richer and the poor consumer gets poorer.

One of the worst types of food fad is the branding of some natural food as poisonous or indigestible or as favoring cancer or an allergy. As a result of such fads some people have avoided all meat or milk or eggs. Unless a definitely proved allergy is present, a person does himself an injustice by avoiding these natural foods.

False incrimination of certain combinations has also led many people to restrict their diets unnecessarily.

THERE IS NO KNOWN food that cannot be eaten in the same meal with another food.

4-H Club

Fairfield Junior Homemakers No. 2 Mary Miller was installed as president for the new year when members of the Fairfield Junior Homemakers No. 2 Club met for their second meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Leo Zarnosky. Other officers installed were:

Vice-President, Linda Converse; secretary, Kathy Caldwell; treasurer, Sandy Hall; devotional leader, Jo Anne Lamocha; recreational leader, Judy Converse; health and safety leader, Karen Cook, and reporter, Virginia Converse.

Baskets of food for the area needy families were packed, and "How Many Hours I Sleep," was answer to the roll call. Judy Converse demonstrated how to measure ingredients and Cathy Cleckner and Jo Anne Lamocha served refreshments. The next meeting will be Jan. 15 at the home of Mrs. Zarnosky.

Cooperating With Industries

Although officials of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. have made no definite announcement when it will build on the 60-acre tract of ground it purchased early last October, they have indicated they would like to have all utilities available by spring.

Salem City Council had agreed by resolution earlier that when the time came the city would proceed with installation of water and sewage lines. Council now has gone one step farther, putting promises into action by voting unanimously to proceed at once with installation of these services to a point near where the nationally-known company can avail itself of the municipal facilities at almost a moment's notice. The site to the south of the city has been surveyed and power lines can be installed rapidly.

While waiting for definite word from A&P, one can't help but reflect on the wonderful spirit of cooperation and close liaison between City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and the Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation which has resulted in a magnificent demonstration of community enterprise to secure new industries and also to help existing ones. Council is financing the relocation of a S. Ellsworth Ave. sewer line in order that the Mullins Mfg. Co. can proceed with construction of its new office building at the site of the old Andalusia Dairy.

Recent developments are just a continuation of Salem's never-ending concern for and its appreciation of industries which mean so much to the life of a vibrant community. Other companies looking for a good place to locate don't have to look far if they want good reasons why they ought to locate in Salem.

When Do You 'Scrub' a Project?

The Skybolt plot thickens by the hour.

On the day when President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan were sharing a meal of crow over a project being scrubbed because something called a Skybolt missile couldn't be fired successfully, a Skybolt missile was fired successfully.

During the week the Department of Defense was preparing public opinion at home and abroad for the shock that Skybolt was a failure, the manufacturer of the missile was buying costly advertising to tell a waiting world the missile was a thumping success.

Then there was the coincidence of that successful flight on the day the President was breaking the news to the prime minister that Britain's high-flying bombers, which were going to carry Skybolt missiles aloft and fire them from the air to the ground, no longer would be needed.

This was the same as telling the U.S. Air Force the Strategic Air Command was on its last legs, because the U.S. Navy and the Polaris submarine had edged out the stratospheric bomber in a generation-later rerun of the famous fight to prove that post World War I bombers could sink battleships. The fly-boys won that one.

The Navy is winning this one, and it is British admiralty while the Royal Air Force's wings are drooping. If it weren't for that Skybolt missile which reportedly flew like a bird at the instant the Skybolt project was being scrubbed...

How can that be accounted for?

Honest-to-Goodness White House

The Post Office Department has dreamed up a colorful new stamp for its regular five-cent issue beginning Jan. 7.

It fairly shouts "America" with its billowing star-spangled banner in true red, white and blue.

But what's this? A blue White House? Yes, blue.

The decision, we suspect, was one of the toughest ever reached by the men who determine what appears on the other side of the stickum.

White, no doubt, was the first color to be thrown out. Too common. Everyone knows a white White House would have no popular appeal.

Red? Not on your life, Mac.

Pink? Oh, come on, Charlie. Can you honestly visualize a rugged touch football game in the yard of a pink White House?

Yellow? Cowardly.

Green: Apt to look bilious.

Gray? Civil War experts say it's a loser. By George, then how about blue? Yessir, blue. A real winner.

And so it is. But, knowing the Post Office Department's affinity for "special" issues, it won't be long until we'll see a commemorative stamp depicting, of all things, an honest-to-goodness white White House.

Who Laughs At the Kennedys?

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis W. Carney, who directs the family life bureau for the Catholic Diocese of Cleveland, has made an observation so packed with consequence one wonders if he thought about them.

He wants the trade to stop promoting that popular record which has been amusing all of us with its takeoff on the voices, inflections and mannerisms of our young President and his Lady.

"The hurtful humor and sometimes ridiculous content of the record are not at all in accord with the respect and reverence that are due the President and his family by Christian standards," Msgr. Carney asserts. We differ.

We have listened to takeoffs on President Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy. We have heard the takeoffs discussed by others. The humor is not hurtful.

It certainly does not detract from the sense most of us have that the President of the United States and his wife are in that position pro tempore and it is not they but the position that commands respect and reverence.

We like to think they have not lost their sense of proportion in the White House; that they laugh at themselves the same as we the rest of us laugh at ourselves, thereby hanging on to their sanity when the tempests blow. The President and Mrs. Kennedy, we want to think, have this sense of proportion to an unusual degree.

They know what Msgr. Carney must have missed in his concern about them — that we are not laughing at them but with them when we're amused by the takeoffs.

Confidentially, Msgr. Carney, people who don't like the Kennedys don't listen to the takeoffs. They are not amused.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Something I could do without in snow storms is squawking who complain about snow on the roads but do not lift a finger to clean their own sidewalks.

Trying to recall what we did about Santa Claus when the Twillery tots were tiny toddlers, I draw a blank and must assume we were as unsuccessful with this fantasy as we were with the Easter bunny and the good fairy that takes away pulled teeth and leaves money under the pillow.

One of the oddities of timing in advertising cropped out when the company that makes Skybolt missiles gave them a sendoff the same week headlines were declaring that the Defense Department was getting ready to cancel the Skybolt project.

I remain unconvinced about most of the results of what I consider to be "stunt architecture" — structures which prove nothing but the possibility of putting building materials together into unusual shapes. It could be that these will be classified someday with the monstrosities that appeared in the Victorian era.

We kid ourselves when we interpret information about bad conditions in mainland China as proof of imminent political collapse. That isn't the way it works under authoritarian rule. Like Russia, China is probably better off under its present inept government than it was under its previous inept government. Things were so bad before that anything would have been an improvement.

It is barely possible that among those knocking the Kennedy proposal for stimulating the economy by reducing taxes without reducing spending are a few who have been known to stretch their credit to the limit in a lean period in hope of convincing a watching world they were rolling in the bucks.

I will still make modest bets at long odds that Fidel Castro will turn up in his country as a refugee, where he might even have feathered a nest, like Fulencio Batista, his predecessor, reported to own a plush apartment building on the Virginia side of the Potomac, overlooking Washington.

It is time again for my sheepherder's observation that sheep in nativity scenes should not be confused with the animals that grazed on the hills above Bethlehem nearly 2,000 years ago, which were the remote ancestors of what now are called sheep.

I am frequently and favorably impressed with the performance of the industries whose services are indispensable in our modern mode of living. Millions of people who rely on gas heat, telephones, gasoline and oil take it for granted these things will be available when needed, as will food, radio, television, transportation and, in most cases, newspapers.

For many years I have been searching my mind for a better definition of politics than any I've ever heard. It would be something like this: Politics is the art of making up the people's mind to do what needs to be started and to accept what couldn't be stopped.

As I become increasingly familiar with the new cars I become increasingly sure that never have there been so many well-designed beauties in one style year as are in sight among the 1963 models.

My version of a perfect squelch when people ask me what I think of the Kennedys. "What Kennedys?" I inquire.

Congress Should Be Able To Get Skybolt Funds

By DAVID LAWRENCE

What's more important to spend around $4 billion next year toward a $20-billion program to win some propaganda contest a decade hence by landing a man on the moon, or to spend $2.5 billion now for Skybolt missiles to make sure that the people on earth are safe from a nuclear war every year of that same decade? Who

year of that same decade? Who is deciding the military policy of the United States — civilians with computers, or military men who know something about the unexpected hazards of war and the need for even an overabundant supply of weapons to keep the enemy checkmated?

These are the fundamental questions involved in one of the most important military decisions that has ever confronted the United States. The issue is whether to abandon the Skybolt project and thereby write finis to the intercontinental strategic bomber of the U.S. Air Force, or to stop trying to guess what kind of war may be threatened and prepare instead to deter the enemy with weapons of all types for any kind of nuclear attack.

GRANTED that the Skybolt missile to be launched from bomber planes has not yet been perfected, and granted also that the United States has other missiles which are very deadly, the fact remains that antimissile defenses are rapidly being devised by the Soviets.

The time may come when intercontinental missiles on which main reliance is to be placed will be frustrated and rendered useless. The Soviets are spending billions each year developing antimissile defenses.

The U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff want the Skybolt project continued. But the civilians say "No."

Congress in the past has saved the nation from similar blunders by civilian officials.

Just before the Korean War, the executive branch of the government tried to cut the heart out of the defense budget, but fortunately Congress had made available weapons which saved America from defeat in that war.

Congress will eventually have to settle the Skybolt controversy. Congress has the constitutional power to appropriate funds for defense and the constitutional duty to maintain and make regulations for the armed services.

The president is commander-in-chief of these forces but cannot alone decide what equipment shall be made available to them. That is the responsibility of Congress.

In an era of excessive spending on non-defense projects — which since 1954 has increased about $18 billion, while the rise on the defense side has been only about $8 billion — it seems strange some way couldn't be found to get the $2.5 billion next year for the Skybolt project.

THE MOST important strategy for the United States today is to make the armament race more and more expensive for the Soviets. The burden in the Soviet Union is growing intolerable and causing internal dissension. The Soviet people are being denied a better standard of living.

This is certainly not the time for the United States to economize on money for deterrent power. Economies can be readily applied instead to nondefense projects.

The argument is being made that the United States already has more than enough lethal weapons. President Kennedy stressed that point on television. But, unfortunately, this is really not the issue.

It is what defenses the Soviets have today and are likely to have in the next decade. There will not be time, for instance, at some future date suddenly to revive the Skybolt project.

Who is to say that the course of defense strategy may not demand these very bombers within a few years?

Bombers can fire the Skybolt anywhere from 1,000 miles away from selected targets. These cannot all be defended by the enemy.

The Skybolt missile has a mobility analogous to the Polaris missile, which is fired from underseas by roving submarines and can reach hundreds of targets.

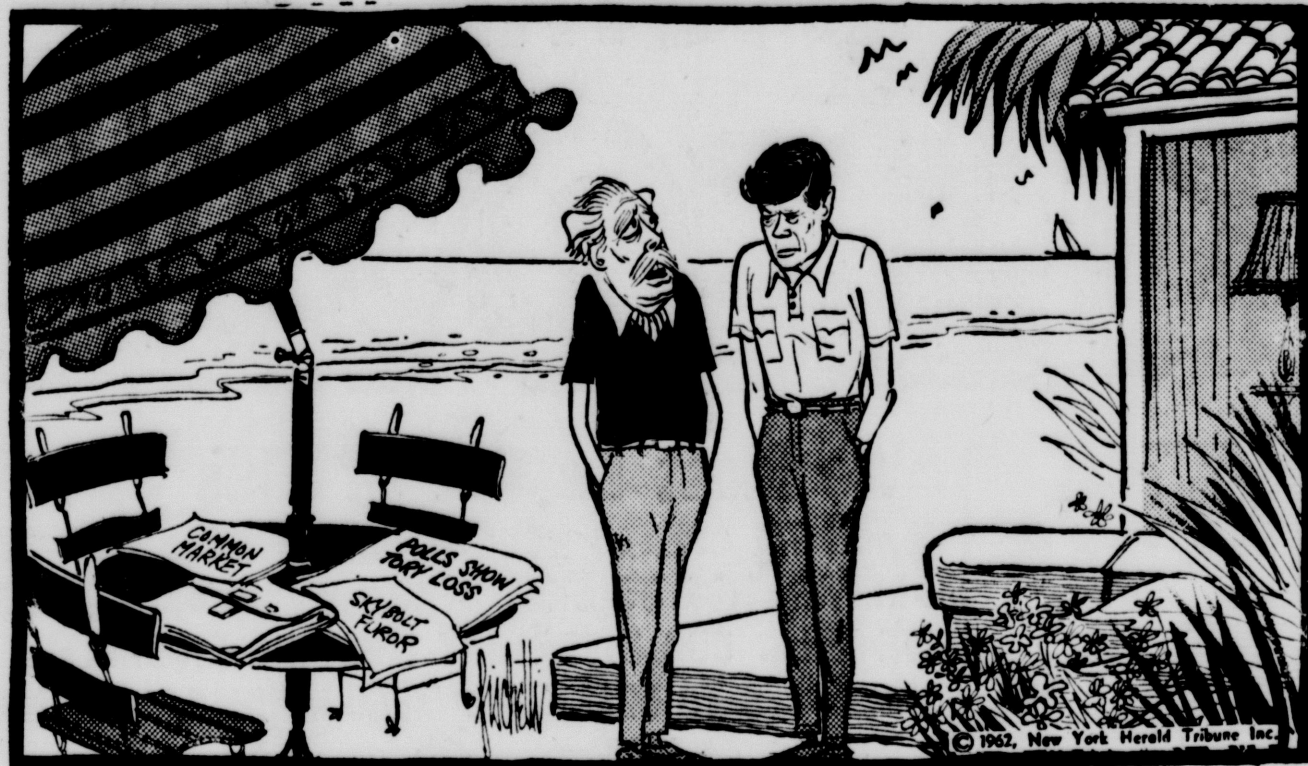

GRAVE DECISIONS confront the United States.

The military man goes on the assumption he can never have too much defense or offense. At a time when lots of money is being spent on projects in the non-defense field that can really be postponed a year or two, it seems that funds could be found to assure the safety of the free world by producing all the military weapons that can be developed.

It may or may not be wise for the British to concentrate on Skybolt carrying bombers.

Each western European country must be provided with weapons best adapted to its own defense. But the necessity for the Skybolt project to be an integral part of the armament of the United States as a precaution against unknown contingencies is growing increasingly clear.

The free world combined must have an overwhelming force mobilized, and it must be kept up to date. For that's the only way to be sure that a deterrent power is really effective.

"I'm Worried, Jack — Why, The Mimics In My Country Have Even Stopped Imitating Me"

Many People Helped In Cuba Deal

By VICTOR RIESEL

It was good to be home by Christmas. But there was sadness among the merry cards of holiday greetings. A letter spoke of a race with death.

Victor Riesel
note, "We earnestly hope you will lend any support within your power."

The note was from the families of many of the men imprisoned after they hit the beach to liberate Cuba. How could I help? I made inquiries. And then I was proud to be home for Christmas. There was little I could do. It was being done.

Behind opaque secrecy a handful of men—of labor, of business, of transport, of science, of government—had coordinated a civilian air fleet, 26 railroads, 200 companies, some 20 unions, pilots, sailors, longshoremen, truckers, railroadmen in one of the greatest mercy missions of recent times.

OPERATION RANSOM began early in the week of Dec. 10. Intelligence sources told the White House that Fidel Castro had agreed to exchange 1,113 prisoners—for some $53 million worth of drugs, medical supplies and special foods. The cost of the rescue operation itself was put at more than $22 million.

Nobody trusted Castro. But the word also came from the Russians. Few trusted them, either. But the massive rescue maneuver was launched by Bob Kennedy. He was told it would take some four months to deliver the strangest ransom in history to the Cuban Soviet.

A special action committee was set up inside the government. In one fashion or another, the Justice Department, the Labor Department, the Commerce Department, the State Department and even the Treasury Department were involved. And, of course, the White House and the intelligence services.

The objective was to put together this huge amount of material without involving the government officially. The decision was to coordinate this publicly through the Red Cross.

To each its own, in effect, was the operational slogan inside the government action group. One department contacted the railroads, —26 of them were needed immediately, including the vital but tiny Port Everglades Belt Railway.

THIS IS the switching line which shunts the cars from the main line to the dock. Soon some 40 refrigerator cars and 40 box cars were assigned to haul the ransom from cities as far off as Indianapolis, Atlanta, Louisville, New Orleans and St. Joseph, Mo. I was told.

Then someone contacted Pan American for planes. And someone telephoned the Farrell Lines, which usually runs ships to Africa. It supplied the now famed African Pilot, a modified C4 with a crew of 52. Fifteen steamship lines agreed to pay all of the ship's operating costs. Now came the men, including a crew from the National Maritime Union.

Then, a special problem arose. Labor was needed to load those planes and the ship. Civilian operation, too. A government agency contacted AFL-CIO president George Meany. He called on Paul Hall, the Paul Bunyanesque seafarers' chief, who doubles as president of the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Dept. He in turn worked with the department's executive secretary — treasurer, Peter McGavin.

THEY RECKONED they'd need from 300 to 500 men immediately to work round the clock. But who would pay for their labor? In the Fort Lauderdale area, for example, there was no stevedoring firm of size to pick up the tab as had the steamship lines and the railroads and the truckers who were hauling stuff to the rails.

Furthermore, brothers Meany and Hall and McGavin wanted labor to stand shoulder to shoulder with industry and government in Operation Ransom. So the labor leaders began recruiting the cargo handlers.

This was a man-sized job. At least 16 "gangs" of 20 each were needed to load the African Pilot. Others were required for the planes being sent in by Pan American. Soon the aircraft loaders and the longshoremen were "on deck." They agreed to work night and day at straight time. Teddy Gleason general organizer of the International Longshoremen's Association, got the men together. The cost came to $15,000. The Maritime Trades Department got the money up swiftly. By last weekend loading was almost completed, well ahead of schedule.

AT ONE TIME did anyone know — anyone from the White House to the house of labor and the houses of business—whether Castro would keep his word. But our people gave of their time, their talents, their shoulders, their holiday hours on the chance they could get the prisoners from Cuba back to an adopted home by Christmas.

And that's why I am proud to be home for Christmas.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our high school principal is square as a chair. He has ruled that the girls can't wear wig-hats in the classroom.

As you probably know, wig-hats are real big now. Everybody, but everybody, has one. We think the principal is acting like a dictator. It's like Russia around this place now. The kids all call him Mr. K. behind his back.

The ruling went like this: "Wigs have become fashionable again. It is permissible for girls in this high school to wear wigs if they wish. Wig-hats are not wigs, they are hats, and may not be worn in the classroom since any hat would be a distraction."

What do you think of this, Ann Landers?—J.M. STUDENTS.

Dear J. M. Students: Sorry, Petunias, but I have no kind words to offer in behalf of those ratty-looking wig-hats. If you gals want to look like test pilots in a broom factory, fine. . . wear the monstrosities on the street, but they are strictly out of place in the classroom.

Feels Left Out

Dear Ann: I am a young mother who needs help badly. Our son is 3 years old. He always has been a happy child and I truthfully can say we have had very little trouble with him — until now. Six weeks ago we added a darling baby girl to our family and now we have a serious problem on our hands.

Before the baby came we prepared Jimmy carefully. We told him God was sending him a baby brother or sister and that HE would have to be the big boy in the family. He seemed pleased with his approaching role of importance.

From the first day we brought the new baby home from the hospital we've had trouble with Jimmy. He began to cry a great deal and talk baby talk. He has suddenly taken to sucking his thumb — something he hasn't done in more than a year.

Yesterday I saw him drinking milk out of the baby's bottle and decided to write to you. Can you help? — ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Jimmy feels he is being shunted aside by his baby sister and is attempting to compete with her for attention.

Don't try to shame him out of his "babyishness" by telling him he's the big boy in the family. He isn't particularly interested in being the "big boy" since he sees no advantage in the role.

Make an effort to give him more attention and more cuddling. When he feels sure that you love him as much as you love his little sister he'll be just fine.

Home Wreckers

Dear Ann: Two years ago my wife and I were divorced. I had to give up two little girls whom I love very much.

Six months ago I remarried and I've never known such contentment. My second wife is a grand person and we get along beautifully. The problem involves my little girls. They come to visit us for one weekend every month.

They are lively youngsters and I must admit they make a wreck of our home. My wife says these visits are wrecking her health. I've tried to make her understand it is important for me to see my children, but she says she just can't take it.

If my wife leaves me life would not be worth living. Yet I can't bear to think of not seeing my little girls. Please help me with this problem. — SILVER THREADS.

Dear Silver Threads: There is no reason why children should make a wreck of ANY home. If their mother is not teaching them discipline and respect for property, YOU should.

Insist that they keep their hands off things which should not be touched, and see to it that they put everything back in its place. Your second wife may be overreacting to these girls for obvious reasons, but she DOES have a legitimate complaint.

Confidentially

TO IN A RUT: Well, get moving, Bub. The only difference between a rut and a grave is the dimensions.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamp-addressed envelope.

10 YEARS AGO — Ten small friends helped Janice Faye Schory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schory, celebrate her seventh birthday Tuesday at the Schory home at 1932 Monroe St. Prizes at games went to Bobby Myers, Theresa Kleinman, Sharon Englert, Buddy Schory and Carol Lynn Ehrhart.

25 YEARS AGO — Approximately 300 children attended the annual Christmas party for children at the Elks Club Friday. Gifts of candy, fruit and popcorn balls were distributed to the youngsters from needy homes.

35 YEARS AGO — An estimated crowd of 300 persons gathered around the community Christmas tree at the Memorial Building Sunday afternoon to sing carols at the city's only public Christmas celebration.

tricks were used by him in this trial.

He charged Atty. Gen. Kennedy a juror you think understands the situation, you discredit that juror or someone close to him.

"It is a disgrace, in my opinion, for anyone to make a statement that this jury was tampered with because if they had such a suspicion they should not have waited a month after their suspension to remove this person, and not during the trial, but at the time they got their information."

At Nashville, the trial judge said: "No comment. The record speaks for itself."

Cuba

ate family member remains, this would not be the case.

Permission for the relatives to depart was given by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro — a Christmas bonus, he said—on the deal exchanging 1,113 captives of the Bay of Pigs invasion of April 17, 1961, for $53 million in sorely needed medicines and food.

The only shadow marring the prisoners' return to freedom was non-realization of their purpose—still alive—to rid Cuba of its Communist regime.

Manel Artime, who was political leader on the invasion force, said in Miami he and his comrades have "a moral obligation to return to Cuba."

Artime said he didn't know yet how that would be accomplished. James B. Donovan, New York attorney who acted as chief negotiator for the prisoners' release, got a hero's welcome when he returned from Havana with the last plane load of liberated captives.

Tired but beaming, Donovan said Castro had promised to discuss an early release of Americans he has imprisoned for anti-Castro activities. There are 23, serving sentences up to 30 years.

The Swiss Embassy, which handles United States affairs in Cuba since a 1960 break in diplomatic relations, is working toward obtaining freedom for the Americans and a Swiss informant indicated that arrangements had not hit any snags.

Officers of the African Pilot said in Havana that the first of the prisoner relatives were scheduled to go aboard at 10 a.m. today. The African Pilot's departure was planned for 5 p.m., with arrival at Port Everglades 14 hours later. Both target times, of course, are subject to revision in event of delays.

The ransom voyage to Cuba, with an $11 million down payment in drugs and baby food, and the return trip will write finis to the 400-foot African Pilot's 20-year log of ocean service. The craft is to go into "mothball" storage because of its age.

Christmas with their families in Miami was a happy day for the invasion veterans, but a quiet one by contrast with their arrival at Homestead Air Force Base and reunion with loved ones.

was an example: "Despite sorrow and hope unfulfilled—the message of the manger still comes to us across centuries to sustain our faith—the message of good will for all men and brotherhood for all creeds and races."

After the weeks of the Cuban crisis, Pope John XXIII in his Christmas message described the year as one of "fear and trembling" but declared wisdom and prudence had avoided a war. He said this was a "sign for the year that is coming."

Churches in many lands were crowded as Christians paid homage to the Christ child and gave thanks for another year of what passes for peace in the nuclear age. In the Holy Land pilgrims jammed the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem.

President Kennedy spent Christmas at Palm Beach, Fla. After presents under a tree for Caroline and John Jr., the President and Mrs. Kennedy attended Mass at St. Edward's Roman Catholic church, cruised in the 80-degree afternoon aboard the presidential yacht, entertained friends for egg nog and had a quiet Christmas dinner at their borrowed ocean-front residence.

It was a day of feasting and gift exchanges at the fireside in the United States where snow and rain spread over much of the country.

cause, as Kennedy made evident in his Dec. 14 address, the administration is willing to tailor its proposals to the mood of Congress.

For example, the President said that tax reforms—once envisioned as a major part of the administration program—could not be advocated solely for "academic reasons." He said any changes in existing provisions for special benefits could be justified only if they would contribute to economic growth.

Kennedy also backtracked on a second count. Where once he promised to seek a tax cut retroactive to next Jan. 1, he mentioned no effective date in his New York speech. This was no oversight.

Against this background, the administration's problem is to fashion a tax program that comes close to meeting its initial goal—and still win favor with Congress.

Burglary Suspects Will Get Hearings

Hearings are set for Thursday at 1 p.m. before County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine for two young men arrested by the sheriff's department on charges of a $20 burglary Friday night at Witter Implement Sales on Alternate Route 14 east of Washingtonville.

The defendants are Walter Thompson, 21, of Rogers and Donald Manis, 19, of Salem, who are scheduled for arraignment in eastern district court here.

Thompson is free on $50 bond. Manis is in jail in default of a similar bond. Sheriff Russell VanFossan said the two admitted entering the building by removing boards from a rear window which had not been repaired since a burglary on Nov. 29. Thompson was arrested at his car parked in a nearby orchard and Manis was arrested while attempting to hitch-hike the sheriff said.

Miss Trina Sue Loria

MR. AND MRS. HARRY Loria of 888 N. Union Ave. entertained 100 guests at an open house Sunday afternoon. The occasion was the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Trina Sue, to Jon R. Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dixon of 461 Orlo Drive, Boardman, and their own silver wedding anniversary.

A graduate of Salem High School and the Lewis-Weinberger and Hill Academy of Cosmetology, Miss Loria is attending Dana School of Music at Youngstown. Mr. Dixon is attending Chofin Electronics School and is employed by the Otis Elevator Co. No date has been selected for the wedding.

The home was decorated in the holiday theme, with a Christmas tree and floral arrangements. A table placed in front of a large mirror centered with a silver pedestal container holding an arrangement of white and red carnations with silver leaves and white lighted candles was used as a refreshment center. A cake encircled the base of the pedestal with one side in white and silver with the names of the anniversary couple inscribed and the names of the engaged pair on the other side. Mrs. Gordon Scullion presided at the punch bowl and Miss Betty Ulicny served the cake. Diane Scullion was in charge of the guest book and Dr. and Mrs. Louis Loria and daughter of Bristolville and Mrs. Donald Aubill assisted.

Mr. Loria and Doris Sebert were married Christmas Eve 1937 in the First Presbyterian Church at Fairmount, W. Va., and have resided in Salem 22 years.

Mr. Loria is plant engineer for Van Huffel Tube Corp. at Warren and Mrs. Loria is math instructor at Salem Senior High School and Junior Class adviser.

GROUP SINGING OF Christmas carols was led by guest, Mrs. A. W. Kilman, when 14 members of the Wesleyan Club of the First Methodist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Guy Byers of E. State St.

Miss Alice Whinery led devotions from the gospel of St. Luke.

Mrs. Lester Messersmith presided at the business session and read a letter from Rev. and Mr. Gilbert Bennett, missionaries to Katanga, Africa.

Mrs. Byers told of some of the interesting experiences of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Howett, who with her husband and sons are now living at Leopoldville, South Africa.

Plans were made to give a Christmas dinner to a needy family of the church.

Rev. William Longworth spoke on the meaning of Christmas.

Assisting the hostess with arrangements were Mrs. Longworth, Mrs. Mary Coffee, Mrs. Audrey Scullion, Mrs. D. L. Rohan and Mrs. Messersmith. Mrs. Don Calladine of 1201 N. Ellsworth Ave. will entertain the group in January.

MRS. R. J. HUNTER was guest when 14 members of the Phila-thea Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Lamar Reed of 636 Park Ave., for a coverdish turkey dinner.

Mrs. James Lindsay presided at the business session and members packed a large Christmas basket to be presented to a needy family.

A poem "It's Christmastime," and random reflections on the Christmas theme was the subject of devotions presented by Mrs. Lindsay.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Ben Kupka Jan. 15, with Mrs. Irene Failes assisting.

A CHRISTMAS PARTY at the home of Mrs. Richard Odom of RD 2, Salem, was enjoyed recently by members of the Petite Nine Club following their annual Christmas dinner at Grady's restaurant.

Secret pals were revealed during the gift exchange and prizes at "500" were won by Mrs. Galen Brandt and Mrs. Lee Hardgrove. Mrs. Richard Dunn was awarded the traveling prize.

The next meeting will be Jan. 16 in the home of Mrs. James Taylor of Winona.

EIGHTEEN MEMBERS OF the Women of the Moose met recently in the Moose lodge, with Mrs. Arthur R. Stark presiding.

Mrs. Harold Secrest and her committee, Mrs. Ronald Libb and Mrs. Sadie Doyle were appointed to assemble and deliver Christmas baskets.

Mrs. Stark was winner of the lodge award and Mrs. Secrest and her committee served the lunch.

The next meeting will be Jan. 2 at 8 p.m. and all members are urged to be present to make plans for the mid-winter conference Jan. 27.

MISS WILMA DICK was elected reporter and Mrs. Richard Neel, treasurer, when members of the Sociable Nine Club met Thursday evening in the home of Miss Dick of Hanoverton.

Prizes at Monte Carlo Whist were won by Mrs. James Smeltzer, Mrs. William Dudley and Mrs. Wayne Binsley.

A birthday gift from her secret pal was received by Mrs. Dudley who will entertain the club Jan. 17 in her home on Stewart Road.

TWENTY-FOUR MEMBERS of the Goshen Center Mothers Club presented the children of the school with their annual Christmas treat at a recent meeting at the school.

Mrs. Ralph Fotia presided at the short business meeting and a decision was made to postpone the annual January room visitation until a later date. It was announced that Mrs. W. T. Struthoff had presented Christmas trees to all the grade rooms.

Gifts were presented to teachers and staff members and the attendance trophy was won by the first grade.

The group will meet again Jan. 18 at the school.

MRS. W. S. LUCE and Mrs. Lee Althouse were guests when Mrs. Clarence E. Bowman Jr. entertained her "500" club at the annual Christmas party recently.

A gift exchange was enjoyed, and prizes at cards won by Mrs. William Kerr, Mrs. Ronald Guchemand and Mrs. Althouse.

Mrs. Guchemand assisted the hostess with lunch. Favors were miniature Christmas trees.

Mrs. Richard Ward will be hostess to the club Jan. 29.

The next social meeting of the class will be Jan. 16.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Ladies: We are flooded with requests to repeat the column on weevils. If you have 'em... and want to get rid of 'em... don't think that anything is exempt. But... instead of literally throwing everything away in your cabinets first try my way of checking exactly where they are multiplying.

I feel it's a safe way to perhaps salvage something. (But I can bet that if you've got 'em, you won't salvage much.)

Remove everything from your cabinets. Set everything out on your drainboard and mix up a strong solution of detergent. Wash the shelves, walls and underneath sides of them too, and then use some good brand of disinfectant. Follow "Joe Blow's" directions on the bottle and again go over all the shelves.

Then, if you want to, use your bug juice! Paint it or spray it on and let it dry thoroughly. Line your shelves with plain old waxed paper — the kind you wrap sandwiches in.

WHEN DOING this, I use three layers: one on top of the other. Later when the top piece of paper gets dirty, I just scoot the stuff on the shelf to one side and roll up the top sheet the next time I clean. Set the bottles on the other side of the cabinet and discard the paper. This makes cleaning real easy... especially the next time. Saves time and energy.

Wash everything that was in the cabinet with the disinfectant — cans, jars, etc.

ANYTHING that was not capped in an airtight jar (I use plain, old fruit jars for this) must be removed from its container and put into something airtight.

Here's the reason: If something that you hadn't suspected does have one of the little devils developing... he can't jump into something else and infect it! The fruit jar is glass and you can see through it. When you see a condiment with one of these creatures... throw the entire caboodle away; jar and all.

Don't even open it and take a chance on one getting out. Fruit jars are cheap, if you save 'em. Sometimes these creatures cannot be seen with the naked eye. But, still they are working, breathing, growing and multiplying!

Flour, cake mixes, meal, etc., can be dumped into big jars, the labels torn off and put inside the jar itself.

A good thing about using fruit jars is that if you are low on anything you can tell it in a hurry as you can see through the glass of a fruit jar, at least until your testing is finished.

HELOISE: Dear Heloise: Does anyone have the answer to how to remove wall paper that has been painted? I don't like to scrape small pieces at a time. Is there an easy way?

MRS. M. A. H. --- Anybody know? How's about telling us? Send mail to me, in care of this paper.

West Germany's 'Sin Town' Is Nearly Thing of the Past

By LOYAL GOULD

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (AP) — The German B-girl slammed her fist on the bar and said business was bad.

"The GIs still have the money but they have too many other things to do now. They don't take as much interest in us and the bars," she complained.

The girl sat in an almost empty saloon in Kaiserslautern's Stein Strasse. The street is off limits for American troops after 7 p.m.

This city in southwestern Germany used to be known among Americans as "sin town" with 75,000 Americans—military personnel and dependents—it is the largest American community outside the United States. But it has changed.

The B-girl explained: "There were good times when the money really poured in, but that's all part of the past now."

Until a few years ago, Kaiserslautern reported 2,000 to 3,000 prostitutes. Police say about 100 remain.

Kaiserslautern had one of the highest rates in Europe of incidents involving U.S. soldiers. There were frequent stabbings, shootings and rapes as well as race riots between white and Negro American soldiers

"The Kaiserslautern newspapers published some mighty angry editorials against the Americans here," said Manfred Stichter, head of Kaiserslautern police.

"But since Col. Plahte moved in, the editorials center largely on domestic and foreign politics."

Col. Fred L. Plahte took over this strategic North Atlantic Treaty Organization post charged with defending a 1,200-square-mile area between the Rhine River and the French border three years ago.

At that time, irate local residents claimed Kaiserslautern was "about the closest thing to hell on earth you can imagine."

Plahte inspected personally every bar in the Kaiserslautern area frequented by American troops.

Within nine months, nearly two dozen off-limits bars closed down for lack of business.

Plahte also began an intensive recreational and educational program for his men to keep them away from the city's night life.

Soldiers may now choose among service clubs, libraries, craft shops, bowling alleys, theaters, gymnasiums, photo centers, road and gun clubs, golf courses, a dozen athletic programs and various school classes.

Two Autos Collide At Lisbon Intersection

LISBON — Cars driven by Thomas E. McKenna, 33, Lisbon RD 5, and Terry Morris, 20, 151 Sherman St., collided at 11:45 p.m. Monday at the intersection of Challis Alley and N. Beaver St.

Police Chief Roy E. Patterson said McKenna was driving west in the alley and slid into Beaver St.

His car hit the right rear door and fender of the northbound Morris sedan. McKenna posted a $15 appearance bond on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Two other men, charged under village ordinances, forfeited $15 appearance bonds. They are Eugene Hammett, 136 E. Washington St., disturbing the peace and intoxication, and Lloyd McPherson, 41, Windham, speeding.

Christmas Day Thieves Empty Coin Machines

LISBON — Christmas Day burglars got an undetermined amount of change from three coin-operated machines at Higgs Inn on Rt. 30, north of East Liverpool, the sheriff's office reports.

Deputy Sheriff Herman Wellman said the thieves got in by removing a window frame at the rear of the building. They forced open cigarette, bowling and pool table machines.

Mrs. James Rose reported the burglary at 11:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Eighteen tons of equipment, including glacier drills, ice axes, generators, freeze-dried food, oxygen equipment, tents and scientific gear, will be taken on the 1963 American expedition attempting to climb Mount Everest.

ANSWER FALSE ALARM

LISBON — Lisbon firemen responded to an alarm at 4:45 p.m. Monday but found no sign of a fire, reportedly in a garage on Spruce St. Firemen and Police Chief Roy E. Patterson searched the entire length of the street.

Nearly 14 per cent of all U.S. workers revealed in the 1960 census that their place of work was outside the county in which they made their home.

GOP Swept House, Senate Elections In Three States

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans scored net gains of about 150 seats in state legislatures in the Nov. 6 election, and in the process ousted Democrats from control of both Senate and House in three states — Pennsylvania, Colorado and Utah.

Democrats still will control both legislative chambers in 26 states. The Republicans will have such two-house command in 19 states; and in four states control will be divided.

Before the election, Democrats dominated both legislative branches in 28 states, the Republicans in 14; and in 7 states control was divided.

(Nebraska has a one-chamber legislature of 45 senators elected without political labels; therefore it cannot be classified.)

The legislatures of the 50 states have about 7,500 members. Net Republican gains of around 150 are small in proportion to the total of seats but the gains are hailed by the GOP high command here as a sign of party progress. Republican leaders point, in particular, to a net pickup of 26 seats in the South as evidence of the growth of a two-party system there.

Democrats point to a victory in Hawaii, where they won control of the Senate and retained control of the House.

Democrats also picked up some seats in traditionally GOP northern New England—eight in New Hampshire and two in Maine—though the Republicans retain overwhelming majorities in both state capitals.

Forty-five states held election for their legislatures Nov. 6. The exceptions were Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Jersey and Virginia. Some of these five did hold special elections to fill vacancies.

The biggest Republican gain Nov. 6 was scored in Maryland where a judge's edict enlarged the House of Delegates to give greater influence to populous areas.

In Georgia, a Negro was elected to the state Senate for the first time in 92 years after historic reapportionment gave 25 of the 54 seats to nine urban counties.

Texas will have seven Republican state legislators, more than at any time since Reconstruction. The outgoing legislature had two.

Other Southern states in which Republicans gained were: Alabama 2, North Carolina 6, Oklahoma 13, Tennessee 2.

States in which Democrats controlled both chambers before Nov. 6, and still do, are:

Alabama, Alaska (assuming Democrats can organize House), Arizona (nominal majority in House), Arkansas, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia.

States where Republicans retained their previous two-chamber control are:

Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Vermont, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

8 Major Holiday Cage Tournaments Start Today

6 of Nation's Top 10 Entered

OSU, Cincy Ready For Other Action

By The Associated Press.
Hey, mom, you can wash those tablecloths. Today's the day when or starts executing those basketball plays he's been diagramming on your best linen all week.

In countless cities, towns, villages and hamlets throughout the country, the scribbling stops and the firing starts as the nation's collegians return from a holiday layoff to the heaviest Christmas tournament schedule in history.

Eight major tournaments get under way today—including the star-studded Top Six—three more join in Thursday and an additional 10 start Friday in action that will reach its peak Saturday when 19 coveted championships will be decided. Numerous minor holiday tournaments also get under way.

Of the country's top ten elite, six will be campaigning for higher honors in the top tournaments—third-ranked Loyola of Chicago, No. 4 Illinois, sixth-rated Arizona State, No. 7 Southern California, ninth-ranked Stanford and No. 10 Mississippi State.

The others—top-rated Cincinnati No. 2 Ohio State, fifth-ranked Kentucky and No. 8 Duke—will hold their share of the spotlight, but they'll be outside the tournament limelight.

The big push begins today with the Los Angeles Classic, the Holiday Festival at New York, Quaker City at Philadelphia, All-College at Oklahoma City, Far West at Portland, Ore., and Big Eight at Kansas City grabbing center stage.

Here's the line-up for the Top Six:

Los Angeles Classic—Colorado State U., 5-2, vs. Southern California, 9-0, and St. Louis, 4-3, vs. Washington, 3-3, in afternoon games. Utah State, 7-1, vs. UCLA, 7-2, and Stanford, 7-0, vs. Northwestern, 2-5, in night games.

Holiday Festival—West Virginia, 4-2, vs. Boston College, 3-3, and Holy Cross, 4-1, vs. St. Bonaventure, 3-3, in afternoon. Illinois, 5-0, vs. Penn., 5-0, and NYU, 3-1, vs. Duquesne, 5-1, night.

Quaker City—Providence, 4-2, vs. Delaware, 5-1, and Villanova, 3-2, vs. Manhattan, 4-1, afternoon. LaSalle, 4-2, vs. BYU, 3-5, and St. Joseph's Pa., 5-2, vs. Bowling Green, 4-0, night.

All-College—Creighton, 6-4, vs. Wyoming, 3-4, and Oklahoma City, 3-5, vs. Baylor, 3-3. The first round will be completed Thursday with Memphis State, 5-2, vs. Toledo, 4-2, and Chicago Loyola, 7-0, vs. Arkansas, 3-3.

Far West—Iowa, 2-4, vs. Arizona, 5-2, and Oregon, 2-3, vs. Washington State, 2-3. The first round will be completed Thursday with Seattle, 5-1, vs. California, 6-1, and Oregon State, 3-3, vs. Idaho, 5-0.

Big Eight—Colorado, 5-2, vs. Kansas, 4-4, and Iowa State, 4-3, vs. Nebraska, 4-4. The first round will be completed Thursday with Kansas State, 2-5, vs. Missouri, 4-4, and Oklahoma State, 7-1, vs. Oklahoma, 4-4.

Also getting under way today are the Western College Athletic Conference tourney at San Francisco and the Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La.

WISCONSIN GRIDDERS GET ROYAL WELCOME — University of Wisconsin football players, with Tournament of Roses queen and her princess on hand to greet them, wave to fans who met them Dec. 22 upon their arrival at Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank, Calif. The Badgers will meet Southern California in Rose Bowl game New Year's Day. Nancy Davis, Rose Queen, is second from left.

Laver Beats Osuna in 69 Minutes

Australians Take 2-0 Lead In Davis Cup Tennis Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Rod Laver, playing crushing tennis, and veteran Neale Fraser, hanging on grimly on tiring legs, sent Australia off to an imposing 2-0 lead with the opening singles today in the 1962 Davis Cup challenge round.

The flashy, brilliant Laver uncorked the form that carried him to a grand slam sweep of major championships in smashing Mexico's No. 1 pride, Rafael Osuna, in 69 crisp minutes 6-2, 6-1, 7-5. Fraser, a 29-year-old, playing in his fifth challenge round weathered a powerful challenge by stylish Antonio Palafox for a 7-9, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9 triumph that took two hours, 50 minutes.

Thus Australians under wily Captain Harry Hopman were in a position to clinch their tenth Davis Cup victory in the last 12 years Thursday when the doubles will be played on Milton Courts here.

The Mexicans are conceded a good chance of prolonging the series by winning the tandem match since Osuna and Palafox have been playing together for years and won the American championship in the past year at Brookline, Mass.

The Australian team was not announced, but it is almost certain to be Laver and Roy Emerson, the latter the world's No. 2 player who asked to be excused from a singles assignment because of bruised ribs.

The Fraser-Palafox match provided the most fireworks.

It was a case of wasted opportunities for the talented Mexican who repeatedly had the Aussie veteran on the ropes, but never could deal a knockout blow. At the end of the match played under gloowering cloudy skies in intense humidity before a crowd of 7,000, Fraser was almost out on his feet.

It was the first challenge round for the tense 26-year-old Mexican stylist and he was obviously the victim of his own inexperience.

On the other hand, sheer doggedness won for the weary Fraser, who was a surprise last minute replacement for the ailing Emerson.

A week from tomorrow, the Boosters will hold a meeting at the Memorial Building at 8 p. m.

Tapers Clout Rens, Snap Losing Streak

By The Associated Press.
The Philadelphia Tapers had good reason to celebrate today. Their famine in the American Basketball League is over.

The hungry Tapers finally tasted victory Tuesday night after 10 consecutive setbacks. In the only game played, Philadelphia, led by Andy Johnson's 29 points, defeated Pittsburgh Rens 110-102. Long Beach was scheduled to play at Oakland, but the game was postponed to Thursday.

Cincy Still No. 1; Other Poll Spots Are Shuffled

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati's powerful basketball team, proud possessor of a 26-game winning streak, was the choice of The Associated Press panel today as the nation's top college cage team for the fourth straight week.

The Bearcats, who whipped

Dayton and Davidson, surprise conqueror of highly rated Duke, to extend their unbeaten string to eight last week, were the first choice of all 45 sports writers and sportscasters comprising The AP panel. It marked the first time that the Bearcats were made a unanimous choice.

Except for Cincinnati, not a single team retained its place in last week's top ten list.

Unbeaten Ohio State (6-0) and Loyola of Chicago (7-0) each moved up a peg, to second and third respectively. The Buckeyes, who whipped Detroit 101-66 in their only game last week, narrowly edged out the Ramblers for runner-up spot, 376 points to 368. Loyola whipped Western Michigan 104-74 and Seattle last week, but was held to 93 points by the Chieftans, marking the first time in seven games that the Ramblers failed to top the 100 mark.

Illinois, which extended its unbeaten string to five with a 93-90 triumph over Oklahoma, vaulted from eighth to fourth as Colorado, West Virginia and Seattle all dropped out of the top ten and were replaced by Arizona State, Southern California and Stanford, who made the elite list for the first time this season.

Arizona State, which whipped Colorado and Minnesota on successive nights to boost its record to 7-1, jumped into sixth place, behind Kentucky. The Wildcats (5-2) added two victories, beating Iowa and West Virginia, the latter for the Kentucky Invitational championship, 79-75 last Saturday.

Southern California zoomed into seventh place on the strength of a pair of weekend victories over Nebraska which boosted the Trojans' record to 9-0. Duke, beaten by Miami as well as Davidson, fell from second all the way to eighth place, barely beating out Stanford and Mississippi State. The Blue Devils received 92 points to 91 for Stanford and 90 for Mississippi State.

The top ten, based on total points allotted 10 points for a first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. with first place vote in parentheses:

	W-T	Pts
1. Cincinnati (45) ..	8	0 450
2. Ohio State .....	6	0 376
3. Loyola Chicago .....	7	0 368
4. Illinois .....	5	0 187
5. Kentucky .....	5	2 134
6. Arizona State .....	7	1 111
7. Southern California ..	9	0 95
8. Duke .....	6	2 92
9. Stanford .....	7	0 91

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LILE

Not too many present day hunters remember when rabbits were so plentiful that you could go to any country store and buy rabbits from 10c to 25c each. The daily bag limit was 10 rabbits per person and the sale of rabbits was legal.

The game protectors of Ohio began a campaign of their own to stop the sale of rabbits before they became scarce. State officials were a little afraid to follow the game protectors recommendations on account of the unfavorable reaction of the farm kids who used this method to pick up a little Christmas spending money.

Twenty five years ago it was no trouble to go out and get the legal limit of 10 then follow up the next day with 10 more. Finally the law was changed and today the limit is 4 rabbits per hunter. The sale of rabbits was prohibited. The limit was cut. All this took place before rabbits became scarce.

In spite of everything the rabbit population is down compared to what it used to be. There is no one person to blame nor any one organization. Re-stocking was tried and pronounced a failure after many years of importing game.

The extended hunting season on state-owned or controlled areas shows the extended season has little or no effect on the game population as the take has been about the same with rabbits and quail holding their own.

On private lands, man is responsible for the shortage of game with both good and bad land use. He has changed the entire environment of fish and game by pollution, strip mining, industry, housing projects, super-highways, etc., gradually shrinking wildlife living areas and making streams unfit for aquatic animals.

There seems to be no immediate plans to check this land-slide operation therefore how can the outlook for hunting and fishing be envisioned with optimism for the future? Puts me in mind of the little old lady living in Pomeroy when the Ohio River began flooding. This poor soul began sweeping the water back when it started flowing into her living room. A few days later all I saw was the roof of her house appearing above the crest of the flood.

One hunter, I certainly feel sorry (?) for him, complained to me that so far he only got 5 pheasants and 13 rabbits after the season opened. He might as well make up his mind he must go to the nearest market if he is looking for a meat supply.

New lakes can be formed, more water impounded and fish stocked with the initial stocking, new species can be introduced when the need arises and some sort of fish management program can be put into effect that pays off. But what can be done with private land use? The state does not own enough land to take care of the hunting pressure. There are numerous problems ahead. What should we expect in the near future?

Washington TD Club Selects Sherman NFL Coach Of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach Allie Sherman of the New York Giants — who never made the grade as a first-string pro player — was named professional Coach of the Year today by the Washington Touchdown Club.

Sherman, 39, whose Eastern Division champions vie for the National Football League crown Sunday against the Green Bay Packers, will be honored by the club at its annual awards dinner, Jan. 12.

In his two years as Giant coach — years in which his charges have captured two Eastern Division championships — Sherman has compiled a 22-5 won-lost record, with one tie game. The Giants lost the NFL title game to Green Bay last year. This year, the New Yorkers have rolled up a 12-2 mark.

The Associated Press named Sherman its pro coach of the year in 1961. He succeeded Jim Lee Howell as Giants coach in 1960.

Sweet Buns from Czechoslovakia

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

American cooks like to adapt foreign recipes for yeast breads to suit their own fancies. Now comes a version of Kolache, popular in Czechoslovakia and some of the other European countries. What's Kolache? Sweet filled buns. Dried fruits are popular for the fillings because they add tang as well as sweetness.

The original rule for Kolache call for all white flour, but this strictly U.S.A. version substitutes part cornmeal.

Two fillings for the buns are given in this recipe, one using prunes and the other apricots. When we tested the rule, we halved each filling recipe and had two kinds of Kolache at one baking.

AMERICAN KOLACHE

$\frac{1}{4}$  cup milk,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons salt, 6 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 2 packages active dry yeast,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water, 3 to  $\frac{3}{4}$  cups sifted flour, 2 egg yolks (lightly beaten), 1 cup enriched white cornmeal, Prune or Apricot Filling.

Scald milk; pour over butter, sugar, salt and lemon rind; stir until butter is melted; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast over warm water and stir to dissolve. Stir 1 cup flour and the egg yolks into the milk mixture; add dissolved yeast and cornmeal. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny — about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted butter. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down; let rise again until nearly double, about 30 minutes. Punch down; shape into 24 two-inch balls; place on cookie sheets. Cover; let rise until light, about 20 minutes.

Make a depression in center of each and fill each with about 1 tablespoon Prune or Apricot Filling. Brush with melted butter.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm or reheat.

Prune Filling: Mix together 2 cups finely-chopped drained cooked prunes,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar, teaspoon cinnamon and  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt. Enough for 24 Kolache.

Apricot Filling: Mix together 2 cups finely-chopped drained cooked dried apricots, 1-3 cup sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cinnamon and  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt. Enough for 24 Kolache.

constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat.

Gradually and vigorously stir the hot sauce into the slightly beaten egg yolks. Stir in salt, pepper, cayenne, lemon juice, onion and shrimp. Beat egg whites until they hold a slightly tipping peak; fold in the shrimp mixture.

Turn into an ungreased 1-quart soufflé dish and bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 45 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

BIG CHICKEN AND RICE CASSEROLE

3 whole broilers-fryers, 2 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate, 2 bay leaves, 3 sprigs parsley, 1 cup coarsely cut celery tops, 1 can (10 $\frac{1}{2}$  ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 2 cups converted-type rice (cooked) 1 pint commercial sour cream, 1 package (1 $\frac{1}{2}$  ounces) dehydrated onion soup mix, Mushroom garnish.

In a deep kettle bring to a boil, covered, the chickens in water with salt, monosodium glutamate, bay leaves, parsley and celery tops. Simmer until tender.

Strain chicken from broth. Measure broth and, if necessary, boil until reduced to  $\frac{1}{2}$  cups; mix with undiluted mushroom soup; turn into a 4-quart casserole.

Skin chicken; remove it from bone; cut into large fork-size pieces; add to casserole with cooked rice, sour cream and onion soup mix; mix well. Refrigerate.

One hour before serving place in a moderate (350 degrees) oven and bake, uncovered, 50 minutes. Add mushroom garnish. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

Mushroom garnish: Drain one 6-ounce can of mushrooms and wrap in foil, using a drugstore fold. About 30 minutes before casserole is heated, place foil-package mushrooms in oven to heat.

At serving time place mushrooms around edge of chicken casserole and top each one with a tiny pimiento cut-out; sprinkle center with minced parsley.

GOLDEN MIDNIGHT CAKE

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 2 cups sifted flour,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 3-ounce package cream cheese,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon red food coloring, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt semisweet chocolate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend together cream cheese and shortening. Gradually beat in sugar. Add eggs, one at a time. Stir in melted morsels and red food coloring.

Add flour mixture alternately with milk and vanilla. Turn into a greased and floured 13x9x2-inch pan.

Bake in a moderate oven, (350 degrees) 35 to 40 minutes. Cool.

Frost with Golden Glow.

YIELD: One 9x13-inch cake.

GOLDEN GLOW FROSTING

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels, 1-3 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt, 3 cups confectioners' sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  6-ounce package ( $\frac{1}{2}$  cup) semisweet chocolate morsels.

Melt butterscotch morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from water; add milk, butter and salt. Stir until smooth. Gradually add confectioners' sugar until of spreading consistency. Frost cooled cake.

Melt semisweet chocolate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Force through cake decorator or paper cone to outline lines of staff, G clef, notes, and theme "Auld lang syne."

Shrimp Souffle Is Friday Dish

Learn to bake a souffle and you may find it's a great satisfaction to serve this fine dish for a Friday meal.

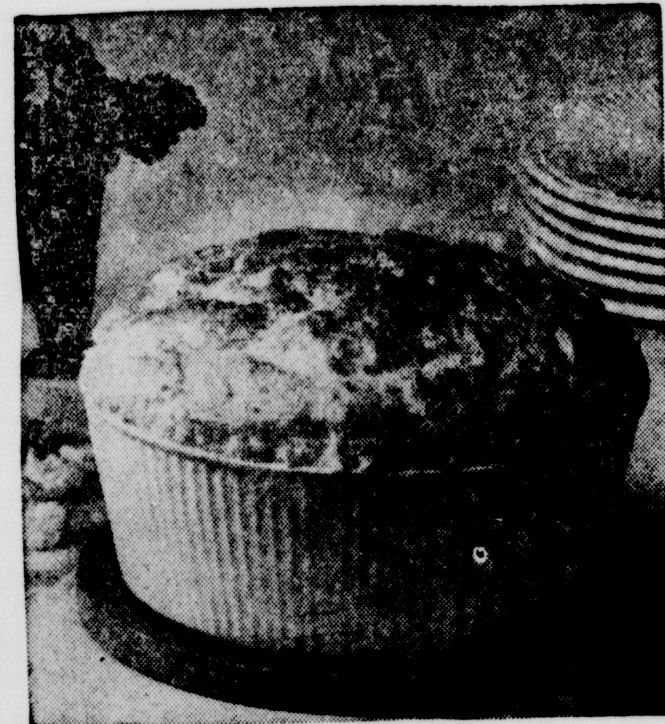

A delightful souffle may be made with shrimp. We often use the canned seafood this way because its flavor is just right in this combination and it is so convenient and time-saving.

When you serve this dish, make sure your family will be at the dining table at the appointed hour. A souffle waits for no man. As soon as it comes from the oven, rush it to the table—and we mean rush—and spoon it out immediately. If your eaters aren't at hand, they'll have to eat a collapsed puff and that's no fun.

If you cotton to souffles, it's worth investing in a classic white heatproof ceramic souffle dish with straight sides. Here in New York the one-quart size usually costs around two dollars. It's almost seven inches in diameter and three inches deep.

It's important to beat a lot of air into the egg whites used in the souffle. To test for the degree of stiffness, we slowly withdraw the rotary beater (rapid - action hand or electric); if the whites stand in peaks that tip over slightly, in our opinion they're as they should be. However, some good cooks beat the whites until they stand in straight stiff but still glossy peaks.

It sometimes amuses cooks to give a souffle what is often called a top hat. Just as the souffle is to go into the oven, insert the tip of a teaspoon or a small spatula about an inch from the edge of the dish and about half an inch deep; draw it around the mixture, inscribing a circle.

This innocent-seeming practice—its markings at first are extremely faint—results in a circular break in the baked souffle that produces the center top-hat rise.

We like to serve a souffle with a sauce that repeats or complements the main flavors. With this shrimp affair, you might choose a lemon-flavored cream sauce enlivened with more shrimp or with green peas or both.

SHRIMP SOUFFLE
1 can (4 $\frac{1}{2}$  ounces) shrimp, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 3 large eggs (separated),  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon white pepper, Cayenne pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon finely grated onion (pulp and juice).

Drain and rinse shrimp; chop coarsely. In a saucepan over low heat melt the butter; stir in the flour. Add milk; cook and stir

OH, SAY, WILL YOU SEE?

THE BIGGEST flag wavers in the United States are the people at Stuart-Sauter firm in San Francisco. They are putting 600 man-and-woman-hours into making what is believed to be the largest American flag. The flag, sewn with material from synthetic fibers, will measure 94 by 141 feet—slightly more than one-third of an acre. Its stars measure six feet from point to point. Some 60 thousand fans at the annual East-West Shrine football game in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium will see the official unveiling. Millions of television viewers will also see the display during the half-time ceremonies. The new flag will replace the 71 by 114-foot, 48-star flag made by the firm.

Old flag, damaged beyond repair, will be burned when new flag is finished.

Forelady Sara Petersen is busily stitching white to the flag's blue field.

Workmen measure for head holes. Twelve men will get under and carry flag.

22 Ohioans Killed Over Long Holiday

By The Associated Press

Traffic
Fires
Total

The 102-hour Christmas holiday period concluded with a lower-than-predicted Ohio traffic toll. Still at least 19 persons died as a result of motor vehicle accidents—and another 102 hours of counting start Friday night when the New Year's season comes in.

The Department of Highway Safety's forecast for each of the long holiday weekends was 26 traffic deaths. It makes no predictions for the in-between time, today until Friday evening, when more danger lurks as evidenced by hazardous driving warnings issued by the Weather Bureau and Highway Patrol.

The toll was relatively light on Christmas Day itself. But Ross County Chillicothe had two deaths, one from a crash the night before, that ran the total there alone to four dead in three highway crashes within 24 hours.

Those killed around the state between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday ranged from a 3-month-old Cincinnati boy to an 84-year-old Lebanon man.

There were at least three non-traffic fatalities, all in separate fires — two children and an adult.

The Christmas Eve and Christmas Day fatalities reported to the Associated Press:

Monday
Wayne S. Smith, 4, Dayton, in a fire at his home.
Leo N. Kellhoffer II, 18 Rt. 1, Londonderry (Ross), in a one-car accident on U.S. 335 eight miles east of Chillicothe.
George Moore, 5, in a fall from his parents' moving car on Ohio 6 near the Clark-Montgomery County line.
Richard Bell, 37, Chillicothe, in a two-car crash on U.S. 23 three miles south of Chillicothe.
Scott Stence, 57, Dennison, struck by a car at a railroad crossing in Uhrichsville (Tuscarawas).
Ronald Chandler, 3 months, Cincinnati, in a two-car crash in Cincinnati.

Commissioners Make Two Road Grants

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners made $300 road grants to St. Clair and Washington Township trustees during a short meeting Monday at the Courthouse.

All offices except the commissioners' were closed to give employees a 3 1/2 day Christmas vacation.

Another long holiday for Courthouse workers will begin at noon Saturday. All offices except the commissioners' will be closed until Wednesday morning.

Park Skating Pond Open; Surface Rough

The skating pond at Waterworth-Memorial Park is open but the surface is "very rough," City Recreation Director Charles Tomlinson reported today.

The warming shelter will be open from 2 to 10 p.m. Tomlinson said he was hoping for rising temperatures which would permit the ice and snow to melt and thus form a smoother surface. The pond is rough at the present time because of the snow.

ANSWER HOSPITAL ALARM

Salem city firemen were called to the Central Clinic at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday when a faulty bearing in the ventilating system caused the odor of smoke in the hospital office. There was no damage, according to Fire Chief Elmer M. Bush.

PHEASANTS HUNGRY?

Three pheasants, two of them hens, were seen this morning by Mrs. Viola Morningstar of S. Union Ave. as they crossed neighborhood lawns, apparently in search of food. Pheasants are a common sight in the country but not in the city.

Winter Weather Ahead

Maps show the U.S. Weather Bureau's forecast of average temperatures and precipitation through Jan. 15.

Frigid weather over eastern two-thirds of the nation will continue into 1963, according to Weather Bureau estimates.

Precipitation is expected to exceed seasonal norms along the Atlantic seaboard, Southeast and in northern Plains.

Questions—Answers

Q—What is the origin of the expression "spic and span"?
A—"Spic" is short for "spike" and "span" originally meant a chip. So a "spic and span" new ship—the way the phrase was first used—was one in which all the hardware and boards were brand new.

There's Nothing Dull Among Laser Beams

NEW YORK—(NEA) — The industry that deals in strange light-producing devices is growing faster than you can say Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation—laser for short. These powerful rays may prove to be the ultimate in space communication and rocket guidance.

The word "laser" has a timid sound, tediously scientific. But there is nothing dull about what laser rays have been made to do so far, including:

1. Cutting through sheet steel with temperatures millions of degrees hotter than the sun.
2. Burning out a tumor inside a human eye in one-millionth of a second.
3. Bouncing off the moon's surface back to earth.

SO PROMISING ARE the prospects for lasers in the Space Age that 400 companies are estimated to be now in the laser business—either manufacture or research. The Defense Department is frantically interested in lasers, which may turn out to be "death rays," formerly known only to science-fiction.

Up until now, lasers have been produced by directing a special light through ruby crystals or similar substances. The process is complex, and the efficiency of the devices has stood at only one or two per cent.

But a major breakthrough has now been made in the development of a small, relatively cheap, high-efficiency laser. Three research teams are ending a year-long race in a dead heat: IBM, GE and Lincoln Laboratories.

THE BASIC difference is that these new lasers produce rays by electrical impulse through a metallic crystal, eliminating bulky lighting equipment. They require less power to work.

Of all the jobs which lasers of the future may be called upon to do, space communication may turn out to be the most important.

In theory, a single laser beam can carry eight million television channels simultaneously—because the visible light band has more than 1,000 times as many frequencies as radio or microwave bands.

Under the right conditions, a single laser beam could carry as much information—voice, teletype and television—as all communications now in existence, according to Electronics World magazine.

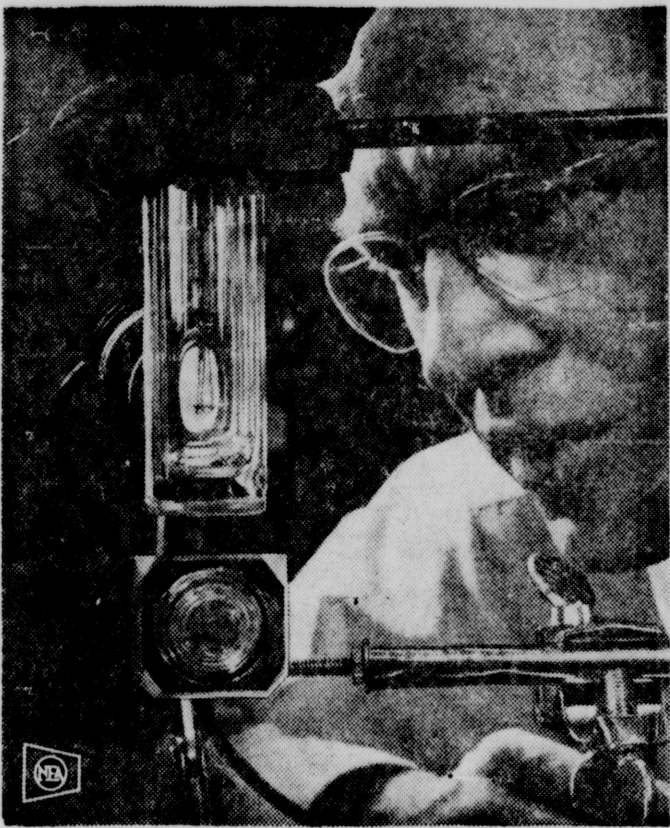

And a laser ray can be flashed through space and pinpointed to a spot on either planet or space ship. The laser ray sent the quarter of a million miles to the moon spread out to a diameter of only two miles by the time it reached earth's satellite.

One interspace task which lasers may be called upon to solve is that of space ship guidance. If a rendezvous in space is to be made possible, a sure way must be found to bring two or more craft together gently as they orbit at 18,000 miles per hour.

SPERRY GYROSCOPE engineers have built a prototype "Doppler radar," which may be able to measure the closing rate of rendezvousing rockets. It depends for its effectiveness on the Doppler principle—illustrated by the increase in frequency (hard as pitch) of a siren or auto horn as the vehicle moves toward the listener, and a decrease in pitch as it goes away.

Light behaves the same way. Linked to the radar device and automatic guidance system, laser beams could be used to bring two rockets together as gently as a clock's minute hand meeting the hour hand.

Using laser beams, sensing devices can detect movement as one inch per second—more sensitively than conventional radar.

NEW LIGHT SOURCE: Dr. Robert N. Hall, of GE's electric research laboratory, watches the operation of new laser. The laser crystal is suspended in a glass tube filled with liquid nitrogen for cooling.

Of Interest to Farmers

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is studying recommendations of an advisory committee that his agency attempt to slow down integration in agriculture.

By integration is meant the unification of production, marketing and distribution under one unit. Involved mainly are concerns outside of agriculture, such as feed companies, chain stores, packing and canning companies and other business units which enter into what is called restrictive contracts with farmers relating to production and sale of farm products.

A national advisory committee on rural areas development, appointed some time ago by Freeman, has submitted a report which says integration threatens the future of the family type farm.

It defines a family farm as a family enterprise, a farm operated and for a family. The committee argued that family farms are more efficient than large corporation type units.

The committee urged Freeman to set up a unit in his department study and recommend changes in its programs which may be found to encourage vertical integration and contract farming. It suggested that perhaps some of the operations of outside units may be in violation of antitrust laws.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has informed President Kennedy that government direct distribution of food surpluses among the nation's needy in 1963 is expected to continue at about the same level as this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The small towns in agricultural regions of the Midwest and West may soon see a Kennedy administration effort to convince them that their fate is tied to the success or failure of strong federal farm programs.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has told President Kennedy that "the small towns of the West and Midwest, where current farm programs have been most beneficial, seem to appreciate it the least."

He informed the President that the department plans an intensive effort to "get this story across."

The secretary told Kennedy that farm income in 1962 was $2.5 billion higher than in 1960, the last year of the preceding Eisenhower administration.

"The economy of rural America was vastly improved, including small towns, farm related industries and equipment suppliers," he added.

Ohio Pig Crop Gains

For every 100 hogs and pigs in Ohio a year ago, there are 105 today, the Ohio Crop Reporting Service says.

A survey indicates there were about 3,069,000 hogs and pigs — five per cent more than last year — on Ohio farms at the beginning of December, the service says. More than a third were three to six months old. Sow farrowings appear to be on the increase also.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports Ohio's fall pig crop was 2,351,000 compared with 2,226,000 in fall 1961.

150 Persons Attend Program At Leetonia

LEETONIA — More than 150 persons attended the Christmas program presented Sunday by the Church School classes of the Methodist Church. Christmas songs were presented by the Youth, Junior and Cherub Choirs.

Participating from the primary department were: Kevin Corlee, Anita Walters, Maureen Kornbau, Patti Hanna, Susie Hively, Thomasine Walters, Jane Davis, Cheryl Griffith and Terry Jo Mariner. All children from the department participated in singing two songs.

Mrs. Joe Hollenhead's class presented a recitation and a playlet with Jeff McElroy, Sondra

Two Area Mishaps Probed by Patrol

Icy roads caused two recent one-car accidents which were investigated by the Lisbon state highway patrol.

At 12:15 p.m. Monday on the Egypt Road, about 200 feet north of Route 14, an eastbound car driven by William W. Woolf, 72, of 352 W. 5th St., slid off the road and overturned when the driver attempted to halt for a stop sign.

A 12:02 a.m. Tuesday, a car operated by Robert Basinger, 21, of East Liverpool went out of control on a curve on County Road 424 near East Liverpool, about one and a half miles south of Route 30. The automobile slid off the road, striking several mailboxes and a fence.

TO HONOR STUDENTS

ELKTON — Rev. and Mrs. William L. Brown, pastor of the Elkton and Lisbon Methodist Churches, will honor the college and university students of both churches at a 10 a.m. brunch at the parsonage Thursday.

Following the program, refreshments were served.

SEVEN TABLES of "500" were in play at the recent benefit card party sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge. Prizes for high honors went to Mrs. Elsie Glasco of Bessimer, and William Grossen of New Waterford.

Mrs. William Grossen of New Waterford and Bernard Straub and Clark McCowan of Leetonia. Lunch was served by Mrs. Vernon Walters. The next benefit will be Thursday.

The Official Board meeting of the Methodist Church scheduled for Thursday has been canceled until further notice.

Is this ad too long ?

We think you'll agree
It's just long enough to tell you some interesting facts about your electric bill!

■ What has happened to electricity prices?

While the price of nearly every item in your budget has gone up and up, the price you pay per unit of electricity has gone down in the past 25 years!*

■ Then—How come bills are higher?

You're using about 5½ times as much electricity as the average family of 25 years ago. Naturally, your bills are higher—but thanks to the lower unit price, they haven't gone up in proportion to your usage.

■ How do prices in Ohio compare with other states?

You pay less for your electricity than the people in 31* other states!

■ What makes Ohio's low prices possible?

Thanks to Ohio's historically favorable business climate, the electric companies have been able to raise the millions needed to make improvements. Through these improvements they have kept the price down. Your increased use of electricity has helped, too. (It's the principle of "cheaper by the dozen".)

■ How are future needs being met?

Ohio's eight electric companies will build as much generating capacity in the next ten years as they did in the past 75 years! As you add more of those wonderful electrical servants, you can be confident the electricity will be ready for you—before you need it. Ohio's investor-owned electric companies are building ahead to serve you.

*Based on price of residential electricity for 250 kilowatt hours from Federal Power Commission figures.
